Working in China

你好

Linklaters in China blends US, UK, Japanese and Chinese expertise across all practice areas.

Our Greater China practice includes offices in Beijing, Shanghai, Hong Kong, and the wider Asian network incorporates Bangkok and Singapore and offers the talents of Mandarin speakers and full execution capability at the most senior level. We also have a major Bengoshi presence in Japan and an Indian joint venture. No other law firm has this capability and footprint.

We've made a conscious decision to combine People's Republic of China lawyers with international talent. Local professionals use their understanding of Chinese law and their cultural know-how to add strength and expertise to complex, global deals. Essentially, it means that Chinese lawyers receive exactly the same client-facing exposure and development opportunities as their international colleagues.
